

IEEE Systems Council Outstanding Service Award Call for Nominations

The IEEE Systems Council Outstanding Service Award honors long and distinguished service to the IEEE Systems Council at a level of dedication and achievement rarely demonstrated. This award is open to all IEEE members that support the Systems Council.

Nominees should have outstanding contributions over a substantial time period encompassing creative and invigorating leadership, exceptional administrative and managerial accomplishments, initiation of new programs to encourage wider participation in the full spectrum of Systems Council activities, and the general communication and advocacy of System Engineering to the technical community as a whole.

The prize includes a plaque and $1,000 USD.

Nominations close on March 1 of award year and will be awarded at the IEEE International Systems Conference in April.
